AIxCrypto Co-CEO Jerry Wang Shares Weekly Investor Update: BitMart Partnership, Hub Milestone, and Institutional & Industry Engagement

February 17, 2026

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 17, 2026 /PRNewswire/ — AIxCrypto Inc. (“AIxC” or the “Company”), a U.S.-Nasdaq listed company dedicated to building an ecosystem that integrates AI and blockchain while bridging Web2 and Web3, today shared a weekly business update from Co-CEO Jerry Wang.

1. Strategic Partnership with BitMart to Launch Co-Branded Virtual Prepaid Card

AIxC has entered into a strategic partnership with BitMart to launch a co-branded virtual prepaid card program for eligible users within the AIxC ecosystem.

Under this collaboration, the Company will provide community reach, brand participation, and marketing support, while BitMart will act as the exclusive operator of the card program. BitMart will be fully responsible for card issuance, user onboarding, compliance oversight, customer support, and all related payment infrastructure, subject to applicable regulatory and regional requirements.

This partnership reflects our continued focus on expanding real-world utility for our community, while maintaining a clear operational separation between ecosystem participation and regulated financial operations.

2. AIxC Hub Season and Strategic Upgrade

AIxC Hub, the core interactive platform of the AIxC ecosystem, has successfully concluded its inaugural competitive season.

The first season, S1 Arena, introduced a season-based simulation model where users participated in activities, accumulated points, earned leaderboard rankings, and explored AIxC's product architecture. All points, rankings, and rewards were calculated and settled on a per-season basis. Finalized scores, including team bonuses, were released across both Global and Southeast Asia leaderboards.

Season 2 marks the beginning of AIxC Hub's strategic transformation: evolving from an engagement-driven platform into a Web2-to-Web3 super gateway powered by AI Agent infrastructure and deeply integrated with AIxC's EAI-RWA ecosystem. New engagement features including the Tenki Stargaze and Fortune Collection modules have also been introduced in S2.

AIxC is excited to share that AIxC Hub has surpassed 1.64 million registered wallet addresses and more than 7,200 registered teams, reflecting continued growth across its global community.

3. ConsensusHK Engagement and Social Growth Update

During ConsensusHK 2026, AIxC co-hosted and participated in the panel “Beyond Scaling: AIxC and the Era of Autonomous DeFi.”

Our team joined industry leaders to discuss how AI is reshaping on-chain activity, liquidity coordination, and digital payments infrastructure, particularly as DeFi systems evolve toward more autonomous execution models.

Our participation underscores our continued engagement in industry dialogue around AI-driven financial architecture, while further strengthening AIxC’s visibility among institutional stakeholders and developer communities across key markets.

4. Institutional Engagement – Wolfe Research Conference

On February 11, AIxC participated in the Wolfe Research Auto, Auto Tech and Semiconductor Conference in New York City. The conference brought together leading companies across the automotive and semiconductor sectors, as well as a broad range of institutional investors.

During the event, Jerry Wang met with institutional investors to discuss AIxC’s strategic roadmap and our recent progress related to embodied AI robotics initiatives.
